Determinants of suicidal ideation in nonclinical participants: an investigation of the Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin. The current study extends the literature of risk/protective factors of suicidal ideation (SI). Participants (N=320) were predominately women (73%) and had a mean age of 25.03 (SD=7.55). The sample was recruited through a social networking site. Participants completed a web-based survey, which included measures of SI, personality traits, stress, depression, and social support. Results indicated that confidence and identity were relevant to SI. Additional predictors that helped to account for a significant amount of the variance in SI included traits of agreeableness and callousness, baseline levels of SI, and the social stressor of feeling left out by a friend/acquaintance. The results of the current study identify personality traits and a social stressor as significant predictors of SI and may help to inform the development of appropriate prevention programs aimed at reducing the effects of SI on a person's wellbeing. Q: Kolmogorov transitive probability metric on the unit interval I have a problem I can't solve, maybe someone can help me. Consider the probability space $([0,1], \mathcal{P})$ where \mathcal{P} is the Borel σ -algebra. Consider the metric $d(x,y) = |x-y|^\alpha$, where $\alpha > 0$ is a parameter. How can we prove that this metric is Kolmogorov transitive? My idea is to consider a sequence of points $S(0, \frac{1}{9}, \frac{1}{9}, \dots, \frac{1}{9}, 1)$
