premature graying? If yes, then there are reasons that your hair might be falling out early on. Besides, various medical conditions also are responsible for the premature graying. If you cannot think of any reason for the early aging, then you can visit the doctor for his support and take necessary measures. 1) Medical condition Is your hair falling out early due to medical condition? If this is true, then the sooner you get rid of it, the better your life will be. Early graying usually happens with illness, underlying medical conditions that increase the risk for hair loss. A condition that forces you to undergo surgery might cause premature graying. The infection that spreads might also cause premature hair loss. Chronic diseases such as leukemia, multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease, liver failure, and others might also force you to consider it as the cause. These diseases cause various symptoms, including immune system malfunction, dehydration, and sleep and appetite issues. 2) Hair care Are you consuming food and medicines that cause irritation to your scalp? If yes, then you need to change your lifestyle and save your hair from premature graying. Since the scalp is your second skin, you need to keep it from harm. You should cleanse your scalp with a good conditioner, and try not to apply too many harsh chemicals. These chemicals not only cause harm to the scalp but also result in premature graying. 3) Emotional stress Are you dealing with any emotional stresses? This stress might be caused by financial issues, relationships, and other such emotional issues. It has 1cb139a0ed
